Amy E. Hutchens, President, CLEAResources, LLC

- An effective program must reach beyond the boundaries of your company; do your company's contract clauses give your program room to operate to its fullest potential?
- Discover how to play offense and defense with your program using contract clauses - learn about common limitations in contract clauses that could tie your hands if something goes wrong.
- Hear how agreeing to certain contract clauses can bind your company to complying with another company's program - and how to negotiate terms that your program can live with.
